Thornton started 15 games at Notre Dame last season and finished his collegiate career with 77 tackles, 5.5 tackles for loss, and 3.5 sacks. He was expected to be a sixth- or seventh-round pick in this year's NFL draft. "Our defensive line in college was very good," Packers defensive coordinator Mike Pettine said. "It's nice to add a guy with Khyri's height, size, and athleticism. I'm really looking forward to working with him and seeing what he can do for us." The Packers are thin along their defensive line and could use some depth, especially now that Mike Daniels has begun to make strides and Kenny Clark is entering his second year. Thornton had a knack for anticipating the snap and timing the tackle on balls that went airborne, according to Packers.com. He was a true freshman starter in 2015 and finished with six sacks in 10 starts. Thornton is the fourth Notre Dame player to have signed with a Green Bay-based NFL team since the merger in 1970. Purdue's Sean Harlow and Notre Dame's Dom Coleman and Sean Hauschka were the others.Q: What would be the easiest way to convert a txt file to a string?
