My code is giving the error "cannot access 'item' via a scalar, list or array" on my removeLine() function. I have a constructor that initializes the contents of a set from a text file and I then try to delete an item from the set from a function. Does anyone know why I can't access it? / Merges the two lists, provided by the implementation, into one list. * @param left * @param right */ public List mergeList(List left, List right) { List mergedList = new ArrayList(); for (Item item : left) { if (!right.contains(item)) { mergedList.add(item); } } return mergedList; } / Appends an item to the list. * @param item The item to be appended. */ public void addItem(Item item) { List list = setItems; list.add(item); } / Deletes an item from the list. * @param item The item to be deleted. */ public void removeLine(Item item) { List list = setItems; if (list.remove(item)) {***
